LITERACY :

1. You can either start with word work on th- words or do the scrabble worksheet based on the letters for the word explain .
2. The writing activity is writing an advert for a new toy. An old catalogue would be useful for this activity so they can cut out a picture of the toy they are advertising.

NUMERACY:

1. The starter is called a brain trainer with 4 mental arithmetic lines of sums, starting easy and getting harder.
2. The main activities are to do with strategies in adding 9 and 99, there are 7 pages. Less able may want to do the first two pages only which are about adding 9, more able may want to go straight to the third page.

PM

1. PSHE: The story, 'The Pencil Case', is about jealousy and respect for other peoples' property..
2. Science : The three worksheets on Food Chains look at producers and consumers and how they are inter-related.
3. Art: Children enjoy drawing intricate scenes and they could illustrate their work on food chains with a woodland scene showing all the creatures that are reliant on each other.
